

Passenger Train Slams Into Vehicle, Resort Woman Worker Fatally Hurt

AFTER PASSENGER TRAIN IMPACT — This is the wreckage of the vehicle in which Mrs. Fannie Williams, 58, of Kingston, was fatally injured. The car apparently stalled on railroad crossing when a DL&W passenger train rammed it and sent it sprawling. The accident happened at Tinkertown Crossing near Minisink Hills yesterday at 4:40 p.m.

A 58-YEAR-OLD resort employee was fatally injured at 4:40 p.m. yesterday when her car apparently stalled on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad tracks at Tinkertown Crossing near Shawnee and was struck by a passenger train.

State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks identified the victim as Mrs. Fannie Williams, 137 John St., Kingston, Daniel G. Warner, Monroe County coroner, said death was due to a crushed skull and broken neck. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Monroe County General Hospital.

Mrs. Williams was driving west on old Route 402 towards Delaware Water Gap. Her 1959 four-door sedan automobile crashed through the railroad barriers and stalled on the crossing.

Another motorist, Nicholas Berish, Jr., of Shawnee-on-Delaware, who was immediately behind the Williams' car witnessed the accident.

Slow Rate Speed

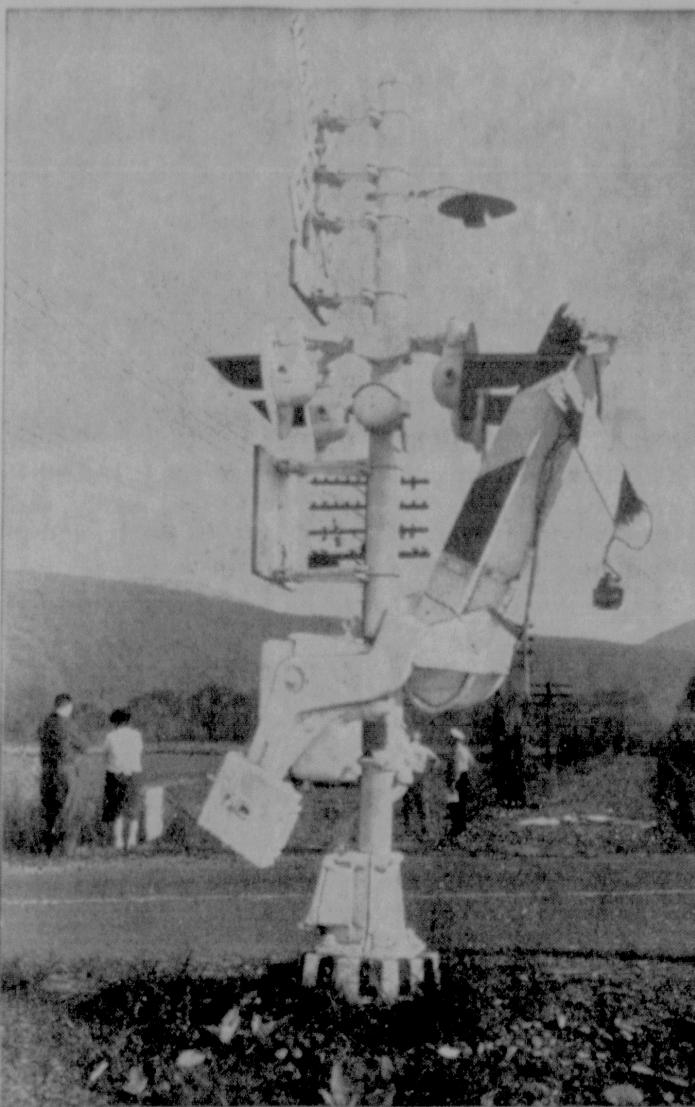

Berish reported that the Williams' car was travelling at a slow rate of speed as it negotiated a slight right-hand turn near the railroad signals.

Berish said that he heard the signal crossing bells ringing. He said Mrs. Williams apparently was blinded by the sun when she crashed the barriers. She then attempted to back up, he said.

"It seemed to me that she wanted to back up," Berish said, "after the car had struck the railroad barriers." "She also seemed to reach for the door but couldn't open it," he reported.

Berish said that the whole incident happened within seconds. "It all happened so fast," he recalled.

It is believed that Mrs. Williams became panic-stricken as she saw the passenger train coming.

The automobile was struck and thrown about 60 feet, hit an embankment and then rolled onto its side. It landed approximately 100 feet from the point of impact.

Was Saleswoman

Mrs. Williams was employed as a saleswoman at Shawnee Gift Shop, Shawnee-on-Delaware. She had been employed there for four seasons and yesterday was her day off from work. She was reportedly en route to Pottsville.

Mrs. Williams, a widow, is survived by a son, Thomas Williams, Endicott, N.Y.

The train, en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to Hoboken, N.J., left East Stroudsburg at 4:37 p.m., with 160 passengers aboard. It was delayed for more than 30 minutes by the crash.

Engineer of the train was Otto Geyer, 65, of 616 Fifth Ave., Lyndhurst, N.J., an engineer for 39 years. Other members of the train crew were Jack Reilly, 32, S. Melrose Gardens, East Orange, N.J., the fireman, and Harry McNulty, 65, of 4 Allen Place, Morris Plains, N.J., the conductor.

Troopers Evan Chaplin and Donald Henzey, assisted by Edward Benesky, assisted by East Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap police, investigated.

Khru's Talk Staggers UN

Action Brings New Tensions

By William L. Ryan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev staggered the United Nations Friday with a thundering speech proposing to rip apart the world organization's machinery and move it out of the United States. His blasts brought an atmosphere of crisis to the historic 15th General Assembly session.

The United States responded quickly. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter retorted that Khrushchev had made "an all-out attack—a real declaration of war—against the structure, personnel and location of the United Nations."

In Washington, President Eisenhower made known he shared Herter's views.

Khrushchev, in an obviously well-planned, calculated attack, assailed President Eisenhower as a man who risked World War III by his stated policies. He then directed the Assembly a fistful of shock proposals.

The most startling was his suggestion that the secretary-general's office be eliminated and a board of three members—one West, one Communist and one neutral—be set up instead. This proposal came in the wake of a Soviet diplomatic defeat in the Congo and a Soviet assault on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Causes Dismay

The proposals caused dismay in many U.N. circles.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth demanded the Assembly stage to make a formal reply to Khrushchev.

He told a hushed Assembly the United Nations must "face this crisis head on."

"If it cannot, it will fail," Wadsworth said, to resounding applause.

Herter called on Hammarskjold personally in his office to discuss possibilities of an Assembly resolution expressing renewed and full confidence in the secretary-general.

Khrushchev's surprise packages included a proposal for immediate and complete independence for all colonial areas of the world. He proposed a three-stage disarmament program, most of it the old one in new wrappings purporting to aim at universal disarming. He also renewed his bid for another summit conference—making it fairly clear he wanted it after Lumumba signed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The unit of U.N. troops guarding Lumumba's residence has orders to protect Lumumba against anything except a "legal arrest warrant. No such warrant has been presented to the United Nations so far.

Ambassadors of African countries were reported to be putting pressure on Mobutu to refrain from arresting Lumumba.

The United Nations World Health Organization reported a serious threat of epidemics of bubonic plague, smallpox, sleeping sickness, malaria and other diseases caused by the breakdown of medical services in rural areas.

Lumumba Followers Arrested

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appeared headed Friday night for a stunning defeat in his proposal to abolish the post of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

This was the consensus of U.N. diplomats as they weighed the words of the Soviet premier and the indignation they aroused from the United States, Britain and many other countries.

The United States was ready to put a resolution before the 15th session of the General Assembly demanding a vote of confidence in Hammarskjold. Such a resolution was certain to win overwhelming approval.

Khrushchev evoked laughter in the Assembly from both pro-Western and anti-Western delegates when he proposed also that the U.N. headquarters be moved out of the United States, Britain and many other countries.

But his attack on Hammarskjold confronted the 96-nation Assembly with an immediate crisis.

U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth, taking the floor at the afternoon session of the Assembly, recalled that the Soviet Union had tried to crush Trygve Lie, who was Hammarskjold's predecessor because Lie "stood up against Communism aggression in Korea."

Soviet opposition to Lie was credited with his decision not to become a candidate for re-election in 1953.

Wadsworth said the Soviet Union is now attempting to crush the office of the secretary-general itself in keeping with a philosophy of what it cannot control it must destroy.

To resounding applause Wadsworth warned: "The United Nations must face this crisis head on, if it cannot, it will fall."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter of the United States told a luncheon meeting of the Foreign Press Association that he felt so strongly about Khrushchev's speech he went to Hammarskjold's office and asked if there could be an immediate vote of confidence in the secretary-general.

No Comment

Hammarskjold had no comment. His top associates said he considered it was a matter for the assembly to handle.

Western diplomats lined up solidly behind Hammarskjold, and there were many expressions of support for him from delegates from other lands.

Most diplomats agreed there was not the slightest chance of success for Khrushchev's proposal that Hammarskjold's post be abolished in favor of a three-man executive body representing the Communist, neutral and Western areas.

This would demand revision of the U.N. Charter, which can only be done by approval of the big powers.

A decision to move U.N. headquarters would require a two-thirds vote in the General Assembly. This also was regarded as impossible for the Soviet bloc to obtain.

Hammarskjold had been under constant attack by the Soviet Union because of the way he has administered the decision of the U.N. Security Council setting up the U.N. force in the Congo.

Powers denied he had ever told his father, Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., that his plane was not downed by a rocket, Pravda said.

The letter, addressed to the editor of the New York Times, concerned a news conference of the elder Powers in New York Aug. 22 after his return from the pilot's Moscow trial. Pravda printed a Russian translation of the text.

Oliver Powers told the news conference he believes his son's jet was not shot down, adding he did not say it was downed in court or out of court. The Times quoted him as saying his son "didn't believe he was shot down."

The Soviet Union has insisted since Powers parachuted into captivity May Day that a single rocket blasted the U2 from its 13-mile altitude.

Many Western air authorities, challenging the Soviet claim that the Russians are able to rocket down any intruder planes at any altitude, have expressed belief an engine failure forced the U2 to glide within the range of regular antiaircraft guns. Powers rejected this idea, saying all his instruments were "in good order until the very moment of the explosion."

Pravda said his letter, written from an unidentified prison, started:

"An opportunity has been given to me to read an article in the New York Times in which it was said that my father, when interviewed, said I thought I had not been shot down."

"Apparently my father misunderstood my answers when I was on trial. I would like to remove this misunderstanding and say that, although I did not see what caused the explosion, I am sure my plane did not blow up by itself."

The capture of Paksane village is not a major victory in military terms, an Souvanna and paratroop Capt. Kong Le, who led Souvanna's forces, were quick to concede they did not consider their victory decisive.

Ike Plans New Meet Of Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday set up new meetings with influential Asian-African leaders and gave all-out support to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, under attack by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

They were linked with demonstrations at the Soviet embassy in Leopoldville II Thursday when some soldiers twice gathered around Mobutu's house to press demands for increased pay.

Even before arranging to meet Nehru and Nasser, Eisenhower had an appointment to talk things over with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in New York on Tuesday.

Hagerly held open the possibility Eisenhowe might see still other foreign leaders that day.

But the White House spokesman repeated he knew of no plans for Eisenhowe to sit down with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower's press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Eisenhowe shares Hagerly's view that Khrushchev's speech was a full-scale attack on the United Nations, and that it was inflammatory.

Some of the women missionaries that were obliged to leave the area temporarily are now returning to their stations.

During the last two years the Memorial Hospital unit has been greatly expanded and is ready for equipment. If and when conditions in the Congo settle down the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church is prepared to underwrite the cost of this expansion and equipment.

The Golden Text

"He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord picture of thee, but to love mercy, and doth the Lord picture of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

Today's Lesson Religion Of Micah

By Newman Campbell

THIS lesson is brief, but, as the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes in his Peloubet's Notes, it "contains one of the most famous ethical statements of the Old Testament, which carries a great truth we should all acknowledge, but which, at the same time, must not be taken as summarizing all the basic truths revealed to us in the Word of God."

"God asks Judah why she has found serving Him a wearisome burden."

He calls on the mountains and hills to hear His voice. "Hear ye, O mountains, the Lord's controversy, and ye strong foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a controversy with His people, and He will plead with Israel."

—Micah 6:2.

"O, my people, what have I done unto thee? and wherein have I wearied thee? testify against Me. For I brought thee up out of the house of servants; and I sent before thee Moses, Aaron and Miriam" (sister of the two), —Micah 6:3.

This is but one illustration of God's goodness to His people. "O, my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab consulted, and what Balaam the son of Beor answered him from Shittim unto Gilgal; that ye may know the righteousness of the Lord." —Micah 6:5.

It seems simple matter, but we may find sometimes that it is not so easy to follow. No boasting of the good we may do, or of our cleverness in business or our churchgoing or sports but humbly walking in God's and Christ's way, giving love instead of like. God will help us if we pray to Him earnestly and sincerely.

The answer to what must seem to us a brutal and outrageous question was: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" —Micah 6:8.

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Borrowing Own Money

Beloved of the politicians is the small businessman. His vote and support can make the difference between election and defeat.

In Maryland's Sixth District, John R. Foley, who represents the area in Congress, and Charles McC. Mathias, who wants to represent it, both courted a group of small businessmen.

Rep. Foley said he would support more government loans for the small businessman.

Mathias said he would work for tax reform. If the small businessman could keep a bit more of what he earns he might not need any loans. And certainly if he could keep more of his earnings, he'd have no trouble getting the loans he might need from regular sources, because his ability to repay would be improved.

It's too bad the audience wasn't polled to find out:

"Would you rather the government let you keep your own money, or would you rather have the privilege of borrowing your own money from Washington — with the obligation to pay it back?"

Special Stamp Industry

Issuance of a stamp in the American Credo series honoring Francis Scott Key has brought what might be termed the special stamp industry to our doorstep. It is seldom a purchaser goes to a stamp window at the post office these days without being handed a special stamp in place of the conventional head and shoulders of Abraham Lincoln or some other President.

Time was when the little principality of Liechtenstein was distinguished for its special issues of stamps the sale of which represented a large proportion of its total revenue. At the rate the United States Post Office is going Liechtenstein and other large producers of special stamps had better look to their laurels.

This year the Post Office is issuing five of the so-called American Credo series honoring the immortal words respectively of Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Patrick Henry, Key and Lincoln. These are in addition to 15 commemoratives which run the gamut from the World Forestry Congress to a stamp honoring the first "Automated Post Office" which is opening its doors in Providence, R.I.

Not every stamp buyer is happy about the commemoratives. Critics complain that they take up too much room, others that the designs are disappointing and the lettering hard to read. That view is not shared by stamp collectors throughout the world who snap them up as they are issued.

Let those who complain be reminded that the commemoratives represent one item of Post Office service that more than pays its way. It has been estimated that the Post Office realizes a profit of $30 million a year on their sale. Anything that reduces the department's annual deficits should be welcome however it may offend one's taste and sense of values. —Baltimore Sun

Around The World In 90 Days

We see where Senator Kennedy has said that "within 90 days" after he is President, if he is, he will reassess U.S. leadership at home and abroad.

Within that space of time, he will propose a program to deal with "wiping out poverty here in the United States," a plan for getting the country a "nuclear capacity second to none" which will make us "invulnerable to surprise attack." In the same short span he promises to rally all our prosperous

Western allies in a regional program to get long term capital into underdeveloped countries all around the world so that they will be prepared for self-government.

That's an ambition for the New Frontier of commendable proportions. But we are old enough to remember that it took Franklin Roosevelt a hundred days to fashion his New Deal. And even so, look what that got us.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Twilight Of Nationalism

It is a long distance from the time when the United States was "God's own country" to the current period of indignity and humiliation.

The intervening era included the Depression which shook the confidence of a nation with whom self-reliance was almost a religion, and World War II which was propagandistically used to negate a century and a half of American nationalism to soften up a people to accept the Rooseveltian concept of internationalism.

It was during this period that our educational concepts were revised. Geography disappeared as a separate subject, presumably on the hypothesis that as we are now One World, the less we know about it, the better.

A few attended lecture courses in increasing numbers until television lessened the lecture industry's hold on audiences. The lecture industry included men and women who were scholars or active students or participants in particular fields.

It also included men and women who knew what they read in the daily press and who were invited to the State Department or to the U.S.S.I.A. for occasional briefing. Generally they knew less than nothing about their subjects but were experienced speakers and were skilled at answering questions glibly and cleverly.

I once met a lady who was quite wildly anti-Communist but for obviously the wrong reasons. Whereas it might be said that a person is right and proper whose righteousness and propriety are not reasoned at all but are the products of breeding, it is impossible to be right and proper for the wrong reasons without sooner or later getting caught up by the course of events.

I knew such a woman once and she studied Russian to combat Communism which I thought was nonsense because the kind of Communists she wanted to fight did not speak Russian; their mother tongue was English. They were not Russians but Americans. They were not concerned with events in Russia but were planning a revolution in the United States.

Anyhow, she studied Russian and then went over to Russia to see how awful the Communists were. She is rather good looking and nobody was awful to her.

So in due course, she read Marx and Engels and Lenin and others, and while she has remained a capitalist because heredity made her that way, she showed marked leanings toward the Red Fatherland and

Speed Up Spending

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — The Eisenhower Administration is speeding up a number of government spending programs to help shore up the economy during the next six months.

With approval of the White House, some sizable spending projects are being pushed by the government's big four spending agencies — Agriculture, Commerce, Defense, and Health, Education and Welfare Departments.

Starting Oct. 1, the Agriculture Department will pay out $339 million in soil bank rental checks to farmers in a dozen different states, including Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, and Texas.

The Commerce Department is freeing nearly $2 billion to step up construction on the 41,000-mile federal highway system. Principal states to be helped from this program will be California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee, and Virginia.

The Defense Department, under instructions from the White House to channel as many contracts as possible into the 21 geographic areas where unemployment is the greatest, is letting double the usual number of defense contracts during the September to January period.

For example, the Navy this week awarded a $68,000,000 contract to a Texas aircraft company to continue production on one of its newest all-weather interceptors. Originally, the contract wasn't scheduled to be given the firm until next January.

Public Works — The Army's Corps of Engineers, given an all-time record budget of $930,738,600 for public works projects by Congress, was ordered this week by the White House to speed-up the letting of funds both on new projects and already under way.

Under the new program to push these projects, more than $68,000,000 will soon be released by the Corps for seven projects in Kentucky, $32,000,000 in Kansas, and $24,000,000 in Illinois.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is releasing $70 million in federal funds this month to help selected states, principally in the South, care for their aged.

The release of these funds will serve to free individual states' funds on dollar matching basis. In some states, the Federal government will put up as much as four dollars for each state dollar. Also, the federal money need not be earmarked for the health programs but can be used for any activity a state may choose.

Government economists, in private talks with members of the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, have reported that the speed-up is designed to pep up the economy this year and to offset a possible business downturn early in 1961.

Note: In order to carry out the increase in dairy price supports voted by Congress, the Commodity Credit Corporation has upped its buying prices by pound on butter, on and one-half cent per pound on half cent per pound on nonfat dry milk.

Washington Outlook — FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner, who was denied Senate confirmation for a new seven-year term, is telling aides that if Vice President Nixon wins, Kintner says he doesn't expect reappointment. Regardless of who wins, Kintner stays on as the agency's chairman until his successor is named and confirmed.

The House Investigating Subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.) has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to make a full report on a secret Sunday meeting that board members held recently.

Sales of imported cars have fallen 24 percent behind a year ago. A survey by the Joint Congressional Economic Committee shows that these car models, which sold at a rate of nearly 60,000 a month in 1959, are now selling at less than 45,000 a month.

The FBI is cracking down on goods to Cuba. Working with the Bureau of Customs, the FBI pounds of tobacco seed placed recently helped to seize 280 in foreign commerce in violation of federal law. The seed was valued at $18,000 and could have covered 50,000 acres of tobacco land if planted.

A nationwide crackdown on firm's selling so-called "pep pills" has been ordered by the Justice Department. Violators of a new Pure Food and Drug Act amendment governing labeling and directions for use will be subject to the maximum penalty of one year in jail and $1,000 fine for each conviction, say Justice Department attorneys.

Inside You And Yours

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Down in New York City they are calling Dr. David Schulman, "Turkey King." The reason is that the good doctor who hangs his non-professional shingle at Little Kunkletown has come up with a new product produced at his Hickory Valley Farm.

Professionally, Dr. Schulman is a New York heart specialist who ironically 10 years ago developed and diagnosed his own hereditary condition.

Like he told countless of patients, Dr. Schulman informed himself, he'd have to take it easy.

What was his solution? Well, one of the best places to take it easy is in the country. Thus, Dr. Schulman picked the Poconos and Hickory Valley because a sideline dish.

His venture to Little Kunkletown brought about many delicacies which are known the world over. Hickory smoked edibles are the theme at his farm which spreads over a valley often hung with a smoky mist pin-pointed by leaves of hickory trees.

His idea was to revive the old-fashioned smoke house with the touch of Pennsylvania Dutch. Starting with hams and continuing with sausages and bacon, Dr. Schulman indicated that even a man with a heart condition can do extra chores and have an extra-curricular activity which humors him and satisfies others.

A New Yorker wrote, "Dr. Schulman brings to his newest passion (smoked turkey with no carcass) all of his intense vivacity and he is as vivacious as the early Jimmy Cagney. He is a man who appears to be incredibly on the bounce, like a tennis ball at Wimbledon. He is an endless talker on subjects that interest him, and perhaps even subjects which do not."

Hickory Valley spends a lot of money on raw materials and spends a lot more preparing for the customer. The operations never have been mass productions and Dr. Schulman said it will never be.

Flavor in the old-fashion way is Dr. Schulman's motto.

He has had State Department and Pentagon briefings and knows an important man or two. She is naturally an internationalist because that is the style of the moment and when some of her remarks are challenged, she might fall back on the ad hominem argument as to whether the challenger knows more than Mr. Herter, which is not difficult. At any rate, the questioner is thus silenced.

These ladies of the courses read the reviews of books and can quote gobs but not volumes. A definition is not only impolite but impolite. It is not necessary to define terms because everybody understands them, including Messrs. Lumumba and Castro.

Patriotism is unrefined. Why should we not be kind to the weak and backward nations so that they might come up to us and be equal to us? It is selfish and narrow to object to foreign goods coming into our country; where else will they go?

An entire nation has been weakened by years of faulty education and schooling until we have ceased to be a nation with national ideals and pride and self-respect. The re-education of the American people is the first task of constructive Americanism.

Bald Facts

Can anything be done for baldness?

Although evolution is supposed to be changing man into a smooth hairless creature, some men are evolving faster than others.

Like the first sack dresses, these ultra-modern hairdos are laughed at and joked about. Even the ancient Greeks joked about baldness and called it "alopecia," meaning fox mange. Today the word alopecia still remains as the technical medical term for baldness.

No wonder, then, men worry as their hair starts to go. They try somebody's No. 9, somebody else's No. 11, etc., until they finally give up and settle down with Vat 9.

Different kinds of baldness start at different ages. It may not begin until age 75 or it may be present at birth; an occasional person goes through life without a single strand of hair.

Partisan opponents invariably are prone to hammer on the theme — contending that platform promises are costly affairs for the taxpaying public . . . Critics invariably wind up with the query: "How do they propose paying for these promises?"

Interesque: a check of the "Democratic Party Platform" for 1960" drafted recently by Pennsylvania donkey riders produces at least one interesting fact along this line . . . A glance over the 28 platform planks shows that more than half — or 15 by our count — involve no expenditures.

For example, plank number 5 "continued recognition of women in filling policy-making positions in government" does not involve the expenditure of additional monies (or would it?)

On the other hand some of the "expenditure planks" incorporated in the platform do have their fiscally frightening points!

. . . Take your choice.

"Expanded" Police Force — one trick of Capitol Police (not related to State Police) reported for roll call and assignment the other day, the lieutenant in charge went down the list of assignments, pausing briefly as he came to Officer Smith (not actual name), and then intoned:

Temporary Baldness

Various conditions, ranging from wasting cancers to bulging pregnancies, sometimes cause patchy temporary baldness. As soon as the baby comes or the cancer goes, new hair grows in often thicker than the original crop.

The foremost cause of baldness is seborrhea, otherwise known as dandruff. Along with showers of hair, storms of snow-like dandruff flakes fall from the scalp. Dandruff continues to be another of medicine's unsolved crimes; various bacteria and fungi have been indicted but never convicted.

Another Kind

Medical detectives are also looking for the cause of another alopecia which strikes many men (and some women) between the ages of 20 and 35, leaving them prematurely bald. Heredity plays an important part, but doctors still argue over the other possible causes and cures.

Should victims wear hats less often? Tight hats band interfere with the scalp circulation. Should they wear hats more often? Weather damages exposed scalps. Should they shampoo more? Or less?

Eldred Twp. Pupils Face Long Day

SOME Eldred Township school youngsters will be faced with 9½ hours of duty per day (maybe more) when their school opens officially on Monday.

The children will board the school buses at 7 a.m. each morning and will arrive home around 4:30 p.m. If delays are involved, the children may get home even later.

Mrs. Emma Smith, principal of the township elementary school, pointed out that bus schedule has been advanced by 40 minutes earlier than last year.

She noted that some of the children will arrive at school an hour before classes begin. "They will either go into the school or play outside," Mrs. Smith said.

The earlier bus start is result of the opening of the new Pleasant Valley Joint High School in Brodheadsville. Buses will transport both elementary and secondary pupils. Eldred sends its secondary pupils to the high school on a tuition basis.

New Twist Of 'Bull'

GREENTOWN — There's a new twist to the story of Ferdinand, the bull! Ferdinand was a young bull calf owned by Jim Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Lee, Greenetown. One day recently, when Mr. Lee made necessary automobile repairs, he drained the radiator of his car and placed the container of water and antifreeze in the garage.

And who should wander by but Ferdinand? He had never heard of being on the wagon, so he drank the liquid.

Emergency measures were immediately taken by the Lees, but to no avail. Ferdinand, all 500 pounds of him, could not cope with a tank full of antifreeze. He died.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

If I have been afraid to go to bed these nights, it's not because of the wind or the dark but because when I close my eyes I can see square-mouthed faces chanting hate. Not in Japan—not in the Congo—but on the streets of New York just 80 miles away.

That's too close for comfort—and all of us are nearer the jungle than we like to think. Because hate begets hate. How many gentle housewives, I wonder, with the television on yesterday afternoon while they went about the nearby chores found themselves hating.

To hate the lies, the distortions, the cant and the malice pouring forth in steady, truculent monotone from Khrushchev's lips was one thing. But soon you began to hate the man himself: the way he stood, the way he thrust that bullet head forward, the way his lips moved, the way he swallowed.

To hate evil is good and can lead to constructive action. To hate the evil-doer is corrosive and snapping at husbands, human personalities. Unable to kick Mr. Khrushchev where he needed it most you found yourself kicking the cat—well, at him, anyway—snatching the children out of mischief and snapping at husbands.

I don't suppose anything would please Khrushchev more but how do you stop doing it? Not listening to him or reading what he says or paying any attention might be one way—but if everybody turned ostrich he'd be in a pretty vulnerable position.

Well, we've got the week-end off. If you come up with a better solution I wish you'd let me know.

Fellowship Entertains New Pastor

Newfoundland—The Rev. and Mrs. Larry Lindemann and their children, Philip and Polly, were the guests of honor at a snack supper held by the Greentown-Newfoundland South Sterling Youth Fellowship at the Moravian Church. The Rev. Mr. Lindenmuth is the new Moravian minister.

During the business meeting at which Gerald McLain, Greentown, presided, the swimming parties were discussed and the group approved a motion to hold them on Wednesday night each month, with Youth Fellowship members invited at a cost of 35 cents and non-members for 45 cents to defray the cost of the bus. Rules laid down by bus driver David Malsom were discussed by Jane Beehn, and the group agreed to abide by them.

There was a discussion on membership and personal pledges, for the MYF fund, as well as the executive council retreat.

It was noted that two teams of Youth Fellowship members, led by advisor Jane Colan, sold $307.14 worth of booster tags for the Fair Association at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair. The sale earned the fellowship $51.

Mrs. Lindenmuth spoke briefly to the group.

Mounties Miss ChancesEmmaus High Scuttles*Stroud Union, 38 To 0

EMMAUS—Emmaus took an "option" on Stroud Union High to perfection, passes for two touchdowns and halfback Tom Kratzner scored twice on 15-yard runs and passed to his halfback mate Bill Schantzenbach for a third score. Second unit quarterback, Bill Sassaman, passed for the Green Hornets' final score, pegging a six-point 30-yard strike to end Don Fink in the final period.

The Mounties had three scoring opportunities and had a scoring chance seconds after the game opened.

Emmaus fumbled the opening kickoff and Stroud Union recovered on the Hornet 30. But the Mounties could penetrate no further than 25 and Emmaus took over on downs and launched its first drive.

With Benedick relying on the option pattern, the Hornets week 6-0 but allowed the Marauders only 20 yards rushing, which ranks East Stroudsburg among the nation's leaders in rushing defense. The Marauders gained 98 yards passing for a total of 118 yards in offense against the Warriors. The total defense also puts the Warriors high in the national standings.

Kutztown scouted the Millerville game and was thoroughly impressed with the Warrior's defense.

Not only couldn't the Millerville line open holes for its backs but it couldn't contain the Warrior defenders, especially Ed Becker, who threw Marauder backs for losses totaling 21 yards.

Tonight's game is one of two East Stroudsburg home Saturday night games. Shippensburg comes in for an Oct. 8 night game at Gordon Giffels' Field.

The Warriors have two other home dates but both are day affairs at Normal Hill.

East Stroudsburg coach Jack Gregory has "souped up" his attack for Kutztown and has added several plays from last year's multiple offense pattern.

Gregory still does not know how much service he can depend on from first unit halfbacks Bill Race and Donnie Schleicher.

Schleicher's halfback running mate, Bill Race has several cracked ribs and will not know if he can play until he is re-examined by a doctor this afternoon.

Frank Lupin, former East Stroudsburg High Schooler and Toby Barkman, a freshman from Roxbury, N.J., who has several steel pins in his legs as a result of an automobile accident, have been moved to the starting backfield.

Quarterback Bill Lewis and fullback Joe Heverin are both recovered from minor injuries and round out the backfield.

Becker and Moe Barber are the starting ends, with Russ Rogers and Harry Powlus at tackle. The guards will be Jake Piatt and co-captain Sterling Brown with the other co-captain Dick Wolslayer at center.

The Braves' victory, snapping a six-game Pittsburgh winning streak, trimmed the Pirates' National League lead to six games over the second-place St. Louis Cardinals.

St. Louis, battling to stave off what appears to be the inevitable, sliced a full game and a half off Pittsburgh's lead by inflicting a pair of 5-1 defeats on the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon doubleheader.

Crandall's game-winning hit decided a fine pitching duel between Pittsburgh's George Red Witt and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl.

Pittsburgh 000 010 000—1 5 1 Milwaukee 001 000 10x—2 8 1

Witt, Face (8) and Burgess; Buhl and Crandall. W—Buhl (15-9). L—Witt (1-2).

Archers Set Novel Shoot

"EVERYTHING Goes" in the Novelty Shoot to be held tomorrow afternoon by the Pocono Archery Association, on the local field range.

The excitement of the shoot is in the variety and ingenuity of the targets. Some are moving, some are stationary and no one knows in advance how to shoot each target to get a maximum score. The contestants take a guess and try to put arrows in what they think is the high-score area. The one whose hits total the highest score wins the prize and the novice has just as good a chance at winning as does the expert.

The Novelty Shoot puts everyone on equal footing and offers a break from the monotony of shooting the same rounds day after day. Twenty-eight of the zaniest targets will be set up for this event and none will be alike in any respect. The Club's women showed a lively interest in this event and have designed a few target creations of their own. There will be prizes for the low scoring shooters, as well as the top scoring archers.

Visitors are welcome as spectators and participants. A registration fee is required of all participants but spectators are under no obligation other than to observe the club's safety rules.

Registration will start at 1:00 p.m. The shoot will get underway at 1:30 p.m. Range is located two miles west of Stroudsburg off Route 209, in the vicinity of the Pocono Motor Terminal.

Count in your first name the number of letters in each word of the contract. If there is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Dear Abby

Concerned About Whom?

Dear Abby: The other day you helped a lady whose husband came to the table in his shorts.

I have a similar problem. My husband sleeps in the nude. We've been married 33 years and while the children were home and we slept in the same room, he wore pajamas. But now we each have our own bedroom and when I go to bed in the morning I find his pajamas have not been slept in. I talked to him about this and he says it is more comfortable that way.

This worries me because he has a heart condition and if he should die some night in the nude this would be very embarrassing when the undertaker comes. Can you help me? CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: Man comes into this world naked and there is no embarrassment, so why should there be any if he goes out the same way? Let him sleep the way he wants to.

Dear Abby: I have a son, 19,

PRR Furloughs 3,000 Workers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad disclosed yesterday it has furloughed more than 3,000 employees in the 13 states in which the system operates because of the slow return of business since a 12-day strike ended Sept. 12.

A railroad spokesman added that the layoffs affect virtually every department and every craft.

Some general office employees are being furloughed and others are taking a day a week off without pay for the last two weeks of the month, the spokesman added.

The PRR was closed down completely during a strike by the Transport Workers Union and System Federation which started Sept. 1. Major issues were the railroad's furloughing out of repair work to private contractors and work rules.

7.06 Percent Gain HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's population was placed at 11,239,301 in a preliminary report of the 1960 U.S. census, the State Planning Board reported yesterday. That represents a 7.06 percent increase over 1950's 10,498,012.

who has just gone back to college for his second year. His girl friend, who is 18, has enrolled in the same college as a freshman. They went together all last summer. When she went on a vacation she wrote to him every day.

I was cleaning out my son's bureau drawers and came upon a pack of her letters. I was shocked to learn that they had been intimate. Now that they are out of town attending the same college I am worried sick about what might happen. The girl's parents live in this town, but we don't have enough in common with them to discuss anything like this. I haven't even told my husband yet. I don't know where to turn for help.

WORRIED SICK

Dear "Fashion Plate": Let me know how much you appreciate his generosity but tell him you're straight up and down. To put it straight up and down: I thought your advice to "Straight Up And Down" was literally straight up and down. With four other girl students, Miss Pifer was returning from
